

WWU Students Will Read to Children on Martin Luther King Jr. Day

Jan. 10, 2007

BELLINGHAM - In honor of Martin Luther King Jr., students from Western Washington University will read stories containing messages of social justice and equality to children in the Bellingham area.

The "MLK Read-In" is from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 15. It is free and open to the public. The event will be held at Village Books, 1200 11th St. in Bellingham.

Books and activities are appropriate for children ages 3 to 8, but all children are welcome. Activities and snacks are planned.

Western students interested in participating need to contact the Center for Service-Learning at (360) 650-7542 or service.learning@wwu.edu. Space is limited and training is required.

For more information, contact Alex Groher at 360-650-7520 or service.learning@wwu.edu.
